GUARDSMEN NOT NEEDED, PROBER TELLS DONAHEY

Situation at Columbiana County Exaggerated, According to Haubrick

Columbus July 30—Claim that there is no occasion for calling out Ohio National Guardsmen was made today by Col Robert Haubrich O N G who reported today by telephone to the office of Gov Vic Donahey relative to an investigation just conducted by Haubrich and Col A W Reynolds also of the Ohio militia concerning appeals by counsel for the Seger Fuel Co near Lisbon that the governor ordered Sheriff George Wright Columbiana County to furnish adequate police protection at the company's mine

The governor instructed Haubrich to conduct the investigation after attorneys for the company charged that striking union coal miners were interfering with the company's efforts to reopen its mine on a non-union basis with strikebreakers imported recently from Pennsylvania

Situation Exaggerated

Haubrich declared that the company's counsel had exaggerated the situation He said that Sheriff Wright promised to station a guard at the company's mine tipple at night Instead of the mining property being worth $1 000 000 as claimed in the appeal to the governor by the attorneys the property is not worth over $100 000 according to Haubrich

Sheriff Wright was at the statehouse today but did not see the governor who was out of the city Wright said conditions were quiet in Columbiana County and that there was no danger of trouble developing He predicted that an injunction will be applied for in the Columbiana County Courts asking to restrain the Seger Fuel Co from carrying out its announced intention of putting 30 strikebreakers to work Monday pumping water from its mine The anticipated application Wright said will be based upon the contention that the water in the mine contains sulphur which would kill fish in Beaver Creek near the mine

Safe Wrecked

After packing soap around three sides of the safe door, the burglars formed a cup of soap at the top of the door above the combination where they evidently poured in the explosive which bent and twisted the door and completely wrecked the inside of the safe The north and west walls of the office were spattered with soap indicating that a large charge had been used

GREAT BRITAIN MUST MODIFY ITS PROPOSAL

President Declares That Otherwise No Hope Can Be Had for Limitation

COOLIDGE DISAPPOINTED

British Press' Reaction Is To Place Blame on U S Chief Executive

Rapid City S D July 30 President Coolidge today conceded with obvious disappointment the probability that the threepower naval limitation conference will end in failure

The conference called at the instance of the President is his outstanding venture in international diplomacy—a venture the success of which would have given him a firm place in the history of world disarmament

The final word has gone out of the Black Hills to Geneva under the signature of the chief executive that unless Great Britain modifies its proposal to the three-power conference there assembled there can be no hope for a future limitation of naval armaments This word will be formally conveyed to the representatives of Great Britain and Japan in plenary session Monday

Has Been Pet Idea

It was with obvious reluctance that Mr Coolidge sent these instructions to Hugh Gibson chief American delegate, for the second naval conference has been his pet idea for more than two years Since it convened more than a month ago cabled advices of setbacks to the American aspirations unfailingly brought words of hope from the President but this hopeful attitude at last has been abandoned in the face of the apparent determination of the British to stand by their guns and demand an agreement which he asserts would call actually for a "much larger navy" Also he now admits that objections of Japan as yet unrepealed would constitute serious obstacles to his hope for a covenant further promoting peace, good will and international understanding

Anticipating failure of his efforts to carry on to a conclusion the work of the late President Harding in ending competitive naval armaments Mr Coolidge nevertheless is remaining silent on his ideas for the American navy of the future

From his oft repeated words of encouragements for aviation commercial and military it is thought by observers he will stand back of a movement to place the United States in undisputed forefront in the aerial field

The British at Geneva are insisting on a light cruiser strength far in excess of the American idea on the ground they must protect their vast trade routes The United States can well call attention to its vast coast lines and prepare like protection although from the air rather than the water, it is held

PRESS TENDS TO BLAME COOLIDGE

London, July 30— President Coolidge's rejection of the final British proposals at the tri-partite conference is regarded here as sounding the doom of the conference, although in official circles it is stated that there is still hope that 'the discussions won't be entirely fruitless.'

The immediate reaction of the British press to dispatches from Rapid City stating that the United States cannot accept Great Britain's proposals, is to blame President Coolidge for the anticipated breakdown of the conference.

The most disappointing feature of the conference according to the Daily Telegraph, is the inability of the American delegates to comprehend that the British limitation plan would have fulfilled President Coolidge's purpose better

PARLEY OVER, IS CAPITAL BELIEF

Washington July 30 — It's over

Even the most optimistic officials admitted today that the tri-partite naval limitation conference probably would not survive longer than the plenary session at Geneva Monday, barring of course an eleventh hour concession by Great Britain

JAPS ALARMED OVER FAILURE

Tokio July 30 — Japanese statesmen showed great alarm today over the prospective failure of the tri-partite Geneva conference

"Japan is willing to make almost any concessions to insure success of the conference," exclaimed Admiral Okada minister of the navy, "except the fundamental principle that limitation, not increase of armament must result"

"If the United States and Great Britain begin a naval race, our conscience is clear," declared Premier Tanaka

AND now comes another protest. Toomire stellar Osgood pitcher is charged with illegal pitching and the umpire of the C D & M Osgood game is accused of rushing the contest. E R Larsen C D & M manager filed the protest. Osgood trimmed the C D & M 7 to 0 Thursday night.

In the formal protest Larsen states that Toomire used illegal delivery, that the umpire called batter up before the team was in the field and that he called up the next batter before a man put out at second had a chance to get off the diamond and that he paid no attention to their protests in any of the above acts.

Just another protest to consider at the next commission meeting. Only four are to come up so far but several more are expected. At least this department has been told that several managers are debating whether or not to enter the ring with a protest in various cases.

We recommend another commission meeting before too many protests pile up on the desk of the secretary.

Claridon Is Next Foe For Binco Outfit

THE fast stepping Marion Binco baseball outfit will clash with Claridon on the latter's diamond Sunday afternoon.

The Bincos have suffered but one defeat this season being downed by the Harpster crew. Harpster has entered the Tri-County League now and is leading with two victories and no defeats. The rest of the teams have played at least six games.

The Bincos are a group of picked baseball players from among the younger set in Marion and have been meeting teams all year composed of older and more experienced players. Their record under the circumstances is remarkable.

The Bincos have played two games at Lincoln Park so far this season and have caused much comment in local sport circles as a result of their brilliant brand of baseball.

[illegible] Cole will start the game on the mound Sunday with Merhart or Walker on the receiving end. The rest of the lineup will be the same as usual with exception of Kelle who is in camp with Howitzer Company.

REPAIR "Y" ALLEYS FOR COMING SEASON

Bowling Will Probably Start About October 1, Fiber Installed

The Y M C A bowling alleys are being repaired in preparation for the coming season. The alleys will probably be opened the latter part of September or forepart of October.

Sections of fiber are being placed along the sides of the pits to deaden the sound of the pins when they strike the wall. The alleys have been sanded and were given a coat of shellac yesterday.

The pin racks also are being repaired and it is probable that a new set of pins will be purchased before the season again opens.

It is not yet known whether or not Ed Meredith, manager of the alleys last year, will again be in charge during the coming season.

RICKARD TO SET DATE "SOMETIME MONDAY"

Makes No Secret That He Favors Chicago for Title Bout

Chicago July 30— Some time Monday is set as the zero hour when Chicago fight fans will learn whether they must spend carfare to New York to see the Tunney-Dempsey heavyweight title match or whether it will be staged in their own front yard at Soldiers Memorial Stadium.

Tex Rickard, New York's expanding fight promoter has virtually promised to enlighten a breathless world on that date. That his announcement will be good news for Chicago the roaming promoter makes little effort to keep secret.

VERNON HEIGHTS CLUB JOURNEYS TO GALION

Local Tennis Players To Meet Galion Club Sunday

The Vernon Heights Tennis Club will journey to Galion Sunday for a match with the tennis club of that city. The match will start at 2 o'clock and will consist of four singles and two doubles.

The Vernon Heights team will include Ted and Newt Cunningham, Art Yazel, Bob Wolfinger, Bob Seifert and Jack Beer.

Within the next few days a definite date will be announced for the first of two matches to be played with the Lost Creek Tennis Club of Lima. Lima has six courts and wants to play eight singles and four doubles matches.

WON'T RETURN

Bobby Jones Says He Probably Will Not Defend British Title

New York July 30—Bobby Jones who won the British open golf championship, and who arrived here on board the liner Aquitania declared today he did not think he would return to Great Britain next year to defend his title. Bobby—or Robert Tyre Jones as he was christened—wants to buckle down to his law studies and get his shingle out as soon as possible. The golf champion plans to leave for his home at Atlanta, Ga., either today or tomorrow.

With Bobby were his father Robert S Jones, Stewart Maiden, the Atlanta professional who taught the champion golf and Joe Kirkwood, America's professional who finished fourth in the open championship which Jones won at St Andrews.

Babe's After Loop Batting Crown, Claim

NEW YORK July 30—While he has by no means abandoned his home run duel with Buster Gehrig, Babe Ruth's chief ambition just at present apparently is to win the American League batting championship this season. By concentrating on place hitting in his last 15 games the big slugger has delivered 27 hits for an average well above 500. In a double header recently he made seven hits in eight times at bat and yesterday he batted 1000, advancing to within 10 points of Al Simmons the league's leading hitter.

The Babe's new system is to get one or two Texas leaguers in the early part of the game and then go after the homers. In this manner he improves his batting percentage and also pleases the fans in Ruthville, the right field bleachers.

Babe and the other Yanks hit well enough against Cleveland yesterday but lost 6 to 4 because Pitcher Willis Hudlin was effective in the pinches.

Browns Defeated

The Red Sox who had not beaten St Louis all season trounced the Brownies 8 to 2. A triple steal by Rothrock, Myer and Flagstead featured a six run rally in the seventh.

The Senators clinched their hold on second place by nosing out the Tigers in the eleventh 5 to 4. Speaker's single broke up the game.

Connie Mack's Athletics in the throes of a disastrous slump lost to the White Sox 6 to 4. In the fourth inning the Sox put the bee on the Veteran Jing Johnson who is essaying a comeback.

The three-cornered fight in the National League remained unchanged as the Pirates, Cubs and Cardinals all won. The Cards swept the series with the Phillies, Haines allowing only four hits and winning 6 to 3 for his fifteenth victory of the season.

Pirates Win

A three-run rally in the ninth featured by Traynor's triple staked the Pirates to a 4 to 3 win over Brooklyn.

After making a homer and a double Stephenson singled in the tenth with the bases full and the Cubs nosed out the Giants 5 to 4. Cummings, New York catcher suffered a broken nose when Spark Adams midget Cub infielder slid into him.

The Reds were leading the Braves 2 to 0 when rain stopped the game in the fourth inning.

SHORTAGE NOT SERIOUS, PRICE NOT YET HIGH

Factors Cause Nation To Assume Apathetic Attitude In Tie-Up

Washington, July 30—The American public has been the victor thus far in the soft coal suspension now entering its fourth month with no prospects of peace in sight.

There has been no radical reduction of the stocks above ground, weekly production is maintaining an average of normal years, the price of coal is comparatively low and the fall buying season is approaching with no serious shortage or cyclone disturbances on the horizon.

These factors, it was pointed out today by government officials, have caused the nation to assume an apathetic attitude toward the tie-up. There has been no pinch and the public has failed to become aroused as in previous years of coal labor troubles.

No Actual Distress

And, too, the same factors have prevented the opening of any negotiations between the United Mine Workers and operators of the central competitive field looking toward a strike settlement. With no great cry for coal abroad in the land most of the operators have been content to let their properties remain idle. The market is so unstable that it would not pay them to operate, their spokesmen declare, either with union or non-union labor. On the other hand the union is not in a position to force negotiations because of the poor demand for coal.

The labor department has heard of no actual distress among the striking miners. Most of the workers have been absorbed in other industries. The big non-union mines in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky are operating at about normal capacity.

To Issue Figures

Industry as never before was prepared for this tie-up. Stocks of coal on hand April 1 when the suspension started were the greatest in history, about 75,000,000 tons. The present stocks are variously estimated from 40,000,000 to 60,000,000 tons. Officials of the bureau of mines will not hazard a guess about the existing stocks but next week will issue an official estimate of the coal in the hands of commercial consumers as of July 1. This figure is eagerly awaited by the industry. It may give an idea of how long the strike will last. If the stocks are large the situation will remain in status quo for some time. If they are small there is bound to be a result and demand for coal business will improve and the operators may decide to fight and reopen non-union or may decide that the easiest and most profitable course is to accept the union's demands for a renewal of the present wage scale of $7.50 a day. However it goes the country faces no serious coal shortage even under existing conditions.

Weekly production figures of the bureau of mines show that Illinois, Indiana and Ohio have been pretty well tied up by the suspension. Pennsylvania production has been cut in half. These are the union strongholds.

Production Higher

The non-union production in Kentucky, based on figures for the first week in March and the first week in July, has sloughed off only about 100,000 tons, and this despite the Fourth of July holiday. West Virginia production was cut about in half. Kentucky and West Virginia are non-union.

And despite the strike the production for the entire country for the first six months of this year was 5,000,000 tons greater than for the corresponding period in 1926. This was due in part, however, to the heavy operations in the first three months to get coal above ground.

Prices To Ascend

The total weekly production for the first full week of July this year was 6,577,000 as compared to 8,000,000 last year. The weekly consumption from May to June last year was 8,000,000 tons, indicating that the present production is almost sufficient to care for existing needs without calling on reserve stocks.

The weighted average price of coal a ton at the mine is lower this year than a year ago when conditions were normal, the figures being $1.82 and $1.91. A week ago the price was $1.80. Coal prices naturally will ascend from now on as the buying for fall and winter becomes more brisk, but officials look for no skyrocketing of prices.

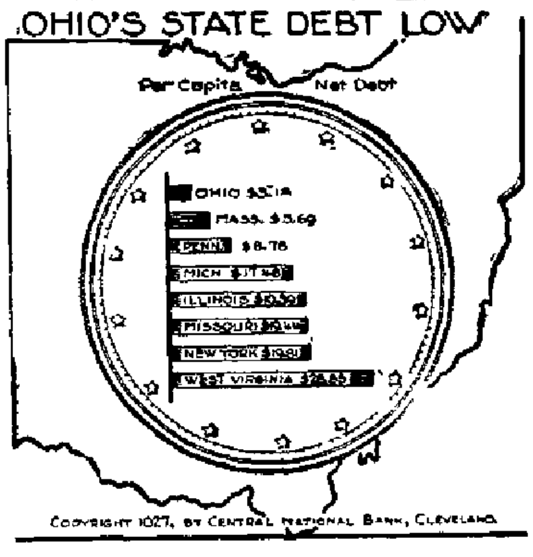
OHIO AT WORK

OHIO'S STATE DEBT LOW



COPYRIGHT 1927, BY CENTRAL NATIONAL BANK, CLEVELAND

The Ohio government's debt amounts to $3.18 for each resident of the state according to a new canvass just completed by the U S Census Bureau

The state government of Ohio has less outstanding obligations in proportion to population than any other principal state, the official records show

Massachusetts owes $5.69 per capita or on behalf of each resident Pennsylvania's per capita debt is $8.78 while that of Michigan is $17.48

Illinois owes $19.39 for each resident and Missouri $19.44 New York's debt amounts to $19.81 per capita West Virginia, Ohio's neighbor on the southeastern border owes $28.85 on behalf of each citizen

Residents of Ohio enjoy a lower burden of taxation than other states as a result of the state's comparatively low debt Debt interest generally represents one of the largest single items of expense in the cost of government to the taxpayer.

It is sometimes assumed that state debt increases in proportion to population The official returns for all states indicate that this assumption is not justified West Virginia, which has a smaller population than Ohio, owes far more money than the Buckeye state rails made moderate advances into higher price territory

Expect Loan Rate Fall

Wall Street looks for a lower money market as soon as the August settlements have been completed about the middle of next week. It is believed that the reduction of the Kansas City Reserve Bank rediscount rate to 3½ per cent will set the pace for other reserve banks and the sharp decline of bankers acceptance rates in New York substantiate that position Easy money at this time of year is one of the most important stock market factors making for higher stock prices

In spite of the aggressive advance in prices on every full session of the week the market displayed a firm tone in all important sections in the second hour

Buying of copper metal in good volume with the exception of the mls at 13⅛ cents a pound has stimulated active trading in the better grade of copper stocks which moved up easily under the lead of American Smelting

Consolidated Gas Reached a new high above 111 in the lead of the local utility stocks Brooklyn Union Gas stocks and bonds continued their uninterrupted advance to the accompaniment of reports that the company will extend and expand its operations this year

Fruits, Vegetables Slump In Price Here During Week

Cucumbers and Tomatoes Included in Downward Trend

A general decline in prices of both fruits and vegetables featured the local markets during the last week Cucumbers which had held at the peak price of 15 cents since they first came on the market early in the summer dropped to 10 cents early this week New potatoes also showed a slight decline when they were quoted at 45 cents a peck

Hothouse tomatoes which have been supplying the local markets during the last several months at 25 cents a pound dropped to 20 cents early this week when competition in the form of Southern Ohio tomatoes came on the market Tomatoes in the local gardens are starting to ripen and it is the belief of local dealers that the shipped in varieties will be replaced by home grown in a short time

Lettuce Goes Higher

Head lettuce and spinach each showed an increase this week when the price was advanced five cents Other vegetable prices experienced a slight decline with large stocks coming in

Blackberries for canning were on the market this week and were selling readily at from $4 to $4.50 a crate The latter part of the week however found the berries becoming more scarce and selling at 25 cents a quart Lemons have varied during the week a price of 60 cents quoted the early part of the week being during the week and the price varied from 47 to 55 cents Watermelons are becoming more plentiful with the result that large round fruit are being offered the latter part of the week at 55 cents a drop of 20 cents over the earlier in the week price

FEARS FUTURE SUPPLY OF FOOD INADEQUATE

Increasing Industrial and Decreasing Agricultural Population Cause for Alarm

Williamstown Mass July 30—With an increasing industrial population and a relatively decreasing agricultural population America faces the prospect within the next 40 years of an inadequate food supply Henry A Wallace of Des Moines today told the Institute of Politics in opening a round table conference on the farm problem This situation will come about he said, "as a result of the grave injustice which has been done to agriculture during the past six years"

Wallace warned that in such a situation laboring men compelled to pay undue proportion of their wages for food may bring on disturbances which "will cause the good people of the industrial centers a thousand times as much worry as the present farm situation"

Wallace estimated that the agricultural capital investment had shrunk since 1920 by about $20,000,000,000 while industry's capital had been increased in that period by a like amount.

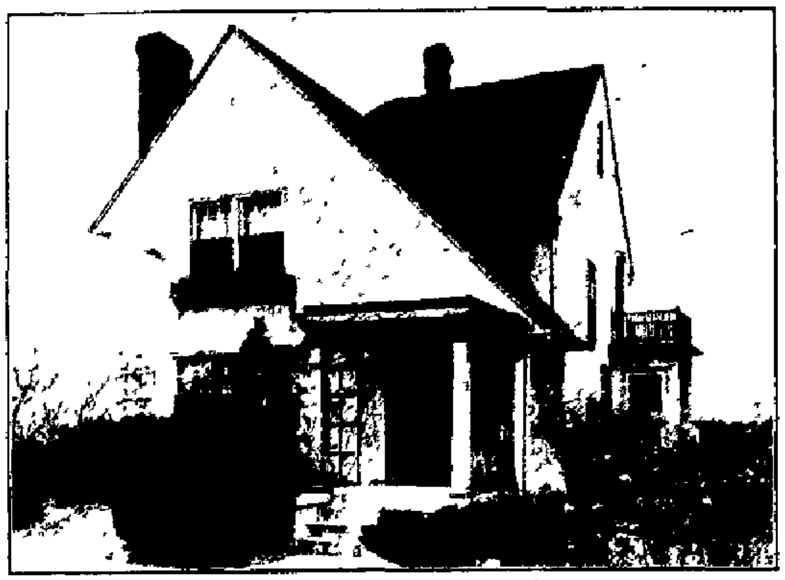
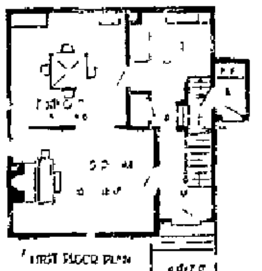
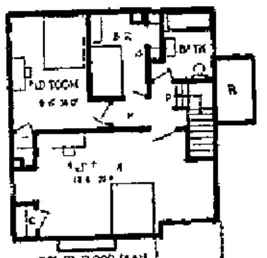
Simplicity and Dignity Predominate In Plan of Six-Room English Cottage





FIRST FLOOR PLAN



SECOND FLOOR PLAN

No Unnecessary Ornaments or Complications Figure in Architectural Design

In this example of English cottage architecture, pictured above, the objective is to provide a picturesque and attractive home suitable for a suburban or city lot of narrow width.

No expense is added for unnecessary ornament or complicated construction. There is simplicity and dignity about this clean-cut design as a result of careful study on the part of experts.

This type of house is known as The Times. It measures 23 by 28 feet and has a floor area of 1,330 square feet.

First Floor

The entrance is over a square porch into a hall of modest dimensions from which the stairs rise to the second story. Immediately to the left on entering is placed the living room with a group of three windows facing the street. A fireplace adds to the attraction of the room. The dining room is planned close to the living room and is conveniently situated in reference to the kitchen.

In and about the kitchen everything that is necessary to housekeeping on a small scale but with up-to-date efficiency is provided.

Second Floor

The arrangement of gables and high roof lines furnishes space for full size bedrooms well lighted and ventilated. Bathroom, linen closet, etc., are near at hand. The high pitched roofs provide attic space for storage if desired and in addition serve to keep the second story rooms cool in summer and warm in winter.

Exterior

The exterior is one which does not call for any particular material for covering. The owner may select stucco, shingles or wood siding with the knowledge that any of these materials are suitable.

ORGANIZATIONS PLAN INVESTMENT SERVICE

U. S. Chamber of Commerce Backs Move Against Fake Stocks

Acting upon the theory that the most effective way of preventing people from investing badly is to induce them to invest wisely, the finance department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is co-operating with other organizations in an educational experiment to that end undertaken by the Rochester, New York, Chamber of Commerce. If found successful this method of protecting a community against fake promotions and fraudulent stock selling schemes will probably be extended in co-operation with local commercial organizations.

It is recognized that many persons have been so engrossed in accumulating savings that they have come to the time of investors with scant knowledge of what to do with their funds.

In Investor's Paradise

The necessity of putting their money to work and the desire of securing as large a return as possible frequently misleads them into unwise investments which prove to be pasteboard and tinsel.

At the same time the number of American investors is constantly growing. More persons are in the capacity of capitalists taking a hand in the business and economic development of the country, and the important task is not to induce them to make better investments but to induce them to make good investments.

Much can be accomplished to this end, it is believed, by the chambers of commerce in co-operation with existing agencies designed to prevent fraud in the sale of securities.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

Injuries In Industries In June 500 More Than Last Year

There were 19,447 industrial accidents in Ohio during June reported to the Industrial Commission.

This total exceeds that of last year by 00. The days lost from injuries totalled 700,204 or 170,000 less than a year ago, showing that many of the accidents were less serious.

Metal goods manufacture furnished the greatest hazard with 5,340 accidents.

An August bride, according to the old belief, has an amiable spirit, is very even tempered and practical minded.

MARION'S FIRST REALTY AUCTION GETS RESULTS

Elm Heights Sale Is Decided Success, R. T. Lewis States

That the first venture of Marion realtors in the development of a new subdivision by the sale of lots at auction was a decided success was declared today by R. T. Lewis of the R. T. Lewis Co., who on Wednesday night closed the first realty auction sale ever held here.

The sale, conducted by the Lawrence D. Jones Corporation of New York, which has had charge of similar sales in various large cities of the state, was in connection with the opening of Elm Heights, a subdivision being developed by the R. T. Lewis Co. and lying south of Mt. Vernon av. just west of Vernon Heights blvd.

High Class Buyers

"I am more than pleased with the result of the sale," Mr. Lewis said today, "both from the standpoint of the number of lots sold and from the class of people who were buyers. Even though the lots were sold at public auction the fact that many of the buyers paid cash indicates that they were all substantial citizens."

The sale opened on Wednesday, July 20, to continue four days. Because of the rain, however, it was advanced to Wednesday of this week. Mr. Lewis also expressed himself as well pleased with the result of the auction sale of lots at the Southwege subdivision being developed by the company in southwest Marion. The sale was held on Tuesday of this week.

Many of those who purchased lots at Elm Heights are planning to build homes next year, Mr. Lewis said today. The restrictions are practically the same as those governing adjoining subdivisions except that the building of a double house is permitted.

27 PROPERTIES CHANGE HANDS DURING WEEK

Mortgages Total $89,343 in Same Period, Record at Courthouse Shows

Evidence of a slight downward trend in real estate activities during the past week was noted today in both the deed and mortgage registers at the county recorder's office.

The record shows that 27 properties were transferred during the week, one less than the preceding week and a decrease of two in comparison with two weeks ago.

A total of 37 mortgages were filed, a decrease of nine from the number of the preceding week. The mortgages amounted to $89,343, which is near the average volume of transactions. Last week the mortgages totaled $112,[illegible], the largest amount for any one week in the last three months.

All but three of the loans made in the past week were on city property. The remaining three were issued to owners of village and county properties. The largest mortgage issued this week was one of $[illegible] on a city property.

Ten of the mortgages were issued to private concerns and individuals, while the remaining loans were made by loan companies of the city.

History of Marion Church of the Brethern is One of Unusual Service and Progress

Steady Growth and Enlargement of Activities Shown Since Church Started

BY W R SHIVELY PASTOR

The Church of the Brethren held its first service in Marion in the Christian Church on N Main st at 2 p m July 7 1912. On the evening of the same date worship was held in the home of Mr and Mrs Elmer Fies on Neil av at which place services were held until Nov 10 of the same year. On that date the place of meeting was moved to the corner of Franconia av and Center st.

In the spring of the following year the place of meeting was again changed to the house at 155 Reed av, which is the present parsonage. This house filled the need of the church for a while but the work grew rapidly under the direction of Rev J W Barnett and wife and this building dedicated for the purpose of divine worship soon became inadequate. By this time the work had proved its permanency and an edifice was erected on the corner of Church st and Reed av. Since the dedication of this building early in 1918 it has been the home of the church.

Remarkable Growth

The Church of the Brethren had a small beginning in Marion. But through the persevering efforts of the faithful the church has had a remarkable growth.

Rev C A Wright of Fostoria preached at the first services held on July 7 1912. On August 4 1912 two members of the district mission board of Northwestern Ohio came to Marion for the purpose of surveying the field. While here they found conditions favorable and organized a Sunday School which met every Sunday. After that the district mission board sent a minister here every two weeks to oversee and carry on the work until they could secure a regular pastor.

Rev J W Barnett was the first pastor of the church. He came into the field Nov 10 1912 and continued in the work for four years. Rev George Deardorff succeeded him. He came Nov 22 1916 and labored three years when death called him to his eternal home. After Rev Deardorff's death the church was without leadership for a brief time.

The next minister to come into the field was Rev W D Landis who served the church one year. Rev R R Hatton became his successor March 1 1922 and continued for four and one half years after which the writer of this brief history began his work Sept 1 1926.

Pastor

Much may well be attributed to the earnest efforts of evangelists who contributed greatly toward the building up of the church. I will merely mention their names in the order in which they came to Marion. They are as follows: B F Honeyman J Hugh Heckman Ella Studebaker Charles Wilkins Rev Guthrie E E Eshelman S Z Smith W C Detrick D G Berkeybile John R Snyder.

Membership Record

During the 14 years since the dawn of the church there have been approximately 112 baptisms 27 members received by letter and two members received on former baptism making a total gain of 141 members. During this time the church has lost 11 members by death 12 requested release of membership and 20 letters were granted to members moving into other congregations of the Church of the Brethren. This makes a total loss of 43 members. There remains a total of 98 members 87 of whom are resident and 11 non resident.

The church is being helped financially by the district mission board. However it is gradually advancing to self support.

The development of the Church of the Brethren in Marion was wrought through close adherence to the creed of the church which is the New Testament. The church has always believed that this inspired Book is the best guide in church polity as well as in Christian conduct. Some of the fundamental doctrines which are maintained and perpetuated by the church are peace brotherhood simple living observance of the rite of feet washing and the full supper in conjunction with the Holy Eucharist and trine immersion.

The church has had a substantial growth in the past and we hope it will have a glorious future.

What is Perfect Love?

A SERMONETTE

BY REV C M BROWN
Pastor Pilgrim Holiness Church

LOVE is one of God's names for a most wonderful experience also called sanctification and holiness. Perfect love is distinguished from the ordinary kind of Christian love which is more or less imperfect in degree.

At conversion one begins to love God and the Christian receives the gift of Christian love into their hearts but that love needs to be perfected and they need to be filled with it.

In order to obtain the Holy Spirit from God as a free gift one must be emptied of carnality, one must die to oneself and all selfish interests and be abandoned to the perfect will of God that He may cleanse our heart and fill the vacancy with his presence.

When one is wholly sanctified by the baptism of the Holy Ghost made perfect in love one's heart is purified by faith from all things opposed to holiness and from being forth one is able to love God with all one's heart soul mind and strength.

One is then able through grace divine to keep the perfect law of God having become what Paul calls a perfect Christian one's sorrows are assuaged the burdens of one's sin are lifted and the service of the Lord is a continual delight.

This is perfect love—a real experience felt and known only in the soul, it is the happiness of heaven begun on earth. If we have found the perfect love as indeed thousands of Christians of all denominations already have we are able to keep the royal law but if we become with our tongue take up a reproach against our neighbor [illegible] to circulate evil reports and repeat that which will cripple their influence and injure their reputation it is evident we do not have it or if we ever had it we have like the church at Ephesus lost it and need to repent.

John Wesley writing on this subject says: The ground of a thousand mistakes is not considering deeply that the highest gift of God is love, humble, gentle, patient love; that all visions, revelations, manifestations whatever are little things compared to love. It were well that you should be thoroughly sensible of this. There is nothing higher in religion. There is in effect nothing else. If you look for anything but more love you are looking wide of the mark, you are getting out of the royal way. And when you are asking others, Have you received this or that blessing? If you mean anything but more love you mean wrong.

You are leading them out of the way and putting them on a false scent. Settle it then in your heart that from the moment God has saved you from all sin you are to aim at nothing but more of that love described in First Corinthians 13.

BAPTISMAL RITES AT RIVER SUNDAY

Members of Pilgrim Holiness Church and the Toledo Avenue Mission will join in a baptismal service at 2 30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Hocking Valley bridge Scioto River north of the city. Rev C M Brown pastor of Pilgrim Holiness Church will administer the rites.

WEEK'S RECORD SHOWS INCREASE IN BUILDING

Eleven Permits for Structures of the Smaller Type Issued by City Clerk

Building activities showed an increase here during the last week although the value of buildings contracted for was less than the total of the preceding week according to a summary of permits issued by the city clerk.

Eleven permits were issued during the week for buildings estimated to cost $2 130. Included in the 11 were five for garages to cost $425 one dwelling to cost $1000 an office building $400 three porches $175 and one chicken house $150.

The estimated value of the property for which building permits were issued the preceding week was $9 935. Three permits for dwellings taken out by C A Curtis local contractor boosted the total for the week far above the average for many weeks.

Building activities in Marion according to a report made by City Clerk Keller are greater so far this year than last and builders are generally optimistic over the general outlook.

With the settling of the situation at the plant of the Marion Steam Shovel Co so far as the reducing of the force is concerned it is the belief of contractors that building will be resumed on a larger scale than has existed for some time.

Numerous women are finding desirable positions these days as trained museum workers.

LOCAL METHODISTS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Marion To Be Represented at Important Meeting in Delaware

Epworth Wesley and Asbury M E Churches are planning to send one delegate each to the Lay Electoral conference to be held at Delaware the week of Sept 6 in connection with the meeting of the three Methodist Episcopal conferences of Ohio West Ohio and Northwest Ohio there on the same date.

The Lay electoral college at that time will choose delegates to the general conference to be held in Kansas City May 1928.

This will be the first time the three Methodist conferences have met in a joint session.

Although Marion will be represented with only three official delegates many members of the local churches are planning to attend as visitors.

The Great Migration from Claremore

[illegible] is just what I see in the [illegible] or what I see as the Ford[s] [illegible] their way into Beverly Hills [illegible] by any kind of noise [illegible] it sounds like the approach [illegible] leg weary Ford.

[illegible] started by my offering [illegible] the first non stop Ford [illegible] Claremore, Okla., to Beverly [illegible] other way. Well I don't [illegible] many Fords there are in any [illegible] but I know how many there [illegible] or was in Oklahoma. [illegible] it all come about by Lindbergh [illegible] Louis on the map. Now I knew we couldn't hardly expect to have Claremore outdo Lindbergh for he is [illegible] word. I knew we couldn't show [illegible] the Aeroplane line. But I [illegible] myself you put us down near [illegible] in a Ford and we are pretty [illegible] after.

Like Rats to Cheese

So [illegible] thought come let's have a Ford [illegible]. Well the idea had no more [illegible] the public prints than half [illegible] was oiling up bent axles [illegible] inner tubes and looking to see [illegible] Beverly Hills was. Now [illegible] distance is about 1,800 miles as Lindbergh flys. Here are a few of the letters in regard to entrance:

Kansas City, Mo.
July 5th

Dear Mr. Rogers: I am entering your Ford endurance race. I am equipping mine with eight wheels so that I can use one set awhile and then when they get hot I can pull them up and use the other set. Will have a platform built all around it so I can do various odds and ends of jobs on it. As it is to be Non Stop I have arranged with the various railroad companies and [illegible] them the day that I will cross their tracks and they are to stop the trains and give me the right away. Fog will determine the time of my hop off. I am going to try to be the Lindbergh of the Fords. I may only wind up as a Levine but look for me if I can find Beverly Hills.

Yours,
Lem I. Carpenter

Here is an[illegible] prospective Hero:

Dear Will: I am entering. I am making what you would call a Solo Non Stop unless I could get you to go along and tell jokes that would keep [illegible] awake. Here's a [illegible] I got [illegible] Doctors or I [illegible] [illegible].

Yours truly,

P. S. Have the radio station broadcast the [illegible] hourly so I would know where I was at [illegible] get out there and get [illegible].

Another:

Dear Mr. Rogers: To make you [illegible] same class as those great patrons [illegible] Wanamaker, Guggenheimer and [illegible] I hereby accept your challenge. I figure on leaving Sunday as that is when there is the least traffic in Oklahoma. Got side wheels on mine so I can go front back or cut to either side. I want to make a lot of side trips up to the canyon and up to Cal [illegible] so look out. I am, etc.

Dear Will: I seen in the paper [illegible] other day you was offering $500 for a feller that wod make a flite. Hoping you have some kind of money making [illegible] for farmers [illegible] side of farming. Say that Bebe Daniels is putty 'snorty' looking. You couldent make the trip end anywhere up around her could you? Well, see you later, don't know how much later.

All Three Going

Here's one:

Dear Will: Us Me and [illegible] are all ready to start for Hollywood as soon [illegible] I can find out where that town of Claremore is located. It's harder to find it than it is to make the trip. Have Beverly Hills wear a rose or some thing in its lapel so I will know it when I get to it. If its a foggy night have the fog horn going. Would like to [illegible] a female Levine but I want one that can get along with the [illegible]. Get [illegible] five hundred ready.

FIVE REASONS
For Buying Triangle Insured Tires

First—They are positively insured in writing for one year against stone bruises, rim cuts, blow outs, tread separation, or any other defects or ACCIDENTS that would put the tire out of use.

Second—Such a guarantee is possible, because Triangle Insured Tires are built above the standard in quality and strength and are super oversize.

Third—they do not cause the trouble and roadside delays ordinary tires give.

Fourth—The EXTRA service they give, because of their super quality, makes them the lowest price per mile tire you can buy.

Fifth—This is a direct factory proposition and consequently we are able to sell these tires at prices no higher than you would pay for ordinary tires.

Put an insured Triangle alongside any other tire made. We will INSURE IT A YEAR. You cannot lose. And you will realize for yourself how much better and longer they will run.

Shop around. Compare the tires and the Prices. Then come to us and be the judge yourself.

Myron T. Herrick Out of Danger.

The announcement carried in Friday's papers that Myron T. Herrick had passed the crisis of his illness and was believed to be out of danger must have been as pleasing news throughout the entire country and over in France as it was here in his home state, for while we of Ohio knew him in the past as a successful financier and business man and as our one-time governor, that for which we esteem him most is identical with that which won him the esteem of our country as a whole and endeared him to the people of France. We refer to his course as ambassador to France during the World war and as our representative in the French capital since.

We are told that the ambassador will remain three or four weeks in the hospital in Cleveland in which he underwent a major operation Tuesday, after which he will go for an indefinite time to his estate at Chagrin Falls, near the Forest City.

We will remember the thrill which we, as Americans, experienced in reading how, when members of the French cabinet and the representatives of a number of the great powers hurriedly left Paris at the time the German advance reached Meux, he held on and announced that he would continue to hold on no matter who else might go. We always recall the incident when we come upon his name in type. The people of France have never forgotten it. They will remember it so long as they live and it will go on down to those coming after them.

The influence Ambassador Herrick gained then over the French is strong and it is that influence which has made his services as ambassador in Paris invaluable to this country.

We hope Mr. Herrick will speedily be restored to complete health and be able to resume his ambassadorial duties which have been interrupted by his illness.

The Sinking of the Favorite.

Twenty-seven dead and ten missing was the toll reported at the time this is written as the result of the sinking of the little excursion boat, Favorite, off Lincoln park, Chicago, in Lake Michigan, Thursday. That the horror did not equal that of the capsizing of the Eastland, twelve years ago, when 812 pleasure-seekers lost their lives, was due to the fact that it was simply impossible to crowd that many onto a boat the size of the Favorite. The conditions, otherwise, for a repetition of the Eastland disaster were much the same.

It is not at all difficult to understand how the horror occurred. Investigation has developed that the small, gasolene-driven craft had been given a special excursion permit to carry during the summer months 165 passengers and a crew of ten. When but a few hundred yards off the Lake Shore drive a terrific squall came up suddenly. The passengers upon the windward side of the boat rushed in panic to the other side to escape the wind and rain. Under their weight and the force of the wind against the other side, the boat tipped, the water ran in over the low side, filling the vessel, and it sank.

It is stated that the life-preservers were tied up where the passengers, principally women and children, could not reach them. The wires told us yesterday that the life-preservers were not available till a member of the crew, who had been swept overboard, swam back, cut the ropes holding them, and tossed them to the women and children struggling in the water. But possibly the result might have been the same had the life-preservers been attainable, for the panic was so great and the time so short that they probably would have been overlooked. In an event not much dependence could be placed upon them, if Coroner Wolf is right in saying: "Every one of the life belts on the boat bore government inspection stamps of approval dating back more than seventeen years. The ropes binding the corks together were rotten and fell apart. The buoyancy of the belts was incapable of supporting a human body."

If conditions were as has been stated we have a craft licensed to carry 168, passengers and crew, with seventy-six, passengers and crew aboard. There was one life boat and two life rafts and twice as many life-preservers, such as they were, as passengers aboard. Licensed to carry 168, the weight of less than half that number aided by the force of the wind causes the boat to list to such an extent that it fills with water and sinks with a loss of twenty-seven lives. It doesn't look good.

The stories of rescues are stories of heroism; and be it said that in this regard the captain and crew did their full share. But the story of the sinking doesn't read right. A small yacht half the size of the Favorite weathered the same storm and rescued thirty of the Favorite's passengers. The story of the sinking leaves an impression of official carelessness in inspection, leaves the feeling that the Favorite was not such a boat as should have been employed in the carrying of passengers.

That Sun-Spot Prophecy.

The earthquake of May 23 which devastated the province of Kansu in China, news of which has just come to us, was easily one of the greatest in life loss in all recorded history. Its estimated toll of 100,000 dead is exceeded only by the Cairo earthquake of 1754 as a result of which 400,000 perished; the earthquake centered about Jeddo, Japan, which took the lives of 200,000 in 1703; the Sicilian earthquake of 1693, which destroyed fifty-four towns and 300 villages and caused a life loss of over 100,000; the earthquake of 1908 in Italy and Sicily which killed over 100,000 and the comparatively recent seismatic disaster in Japan.

Other notable earthquakes have been that at Lisbon in 1531 in which 30,000 lost their lives; the mighty earthquake of 1575, which extended over 5,000 miles and which caused the death of 60,000 in Lisbon alone; the great Peruvian quake of 1868 which caused a life loss of 25,000; the Cashmere earthquake of 1885 which destroyed 70,000 buildings and took 5,000 lives and the Martinique disaster in 1902, which was accompanied by the eruption of Mount Pelee and took 40,000 lives.

We were told by a noted student of sun-spots, last year, that the storms and seismatic disturbances of the present year would greatly exceed in violence those of 1926, as the eleven-year sun-spot cycle would reach its maximum activity this year. He made his prediction upon the strength of thirty years of study of the sun-spots and the atmospheric disturbances, floods, earth tremors and volcanic activity which always accompanied them. The year is but little over half gone, and yet his prophecy has been made good. It may have been a long chain of coincidences, but we are ready to believe that there is a connection between sun-spots and the disturbance of nature claimed by him. We are inclined to concede upon the showing already made, even if the following five months do not accentuate it, that it has all the appearances of a case of cause and effect.

We can not feel sufficiently sorry for poor Tex Rickard, who is grieving because so many people got the last fight over the radio, cutting his bit out of the gate to a miserable half million dollars, or something like that. "You who have tears, prepare to shed them now!"

Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner to the United States during the World war, categorically denies ever having given an interview printed in the Nation's Business in which he was represented as saying that the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement was as good as dead. It seems that the Nation's Business has gotten its nose into the nation's business utterly without authority or excuse.

Of course, if President Kemal lifts the Moslem ban on pork, as is deemed probable, it's going to open up a new hog market in Turkey, which will naturally be of benefit to our hog-raisers, but we fairly shudder when we think of what our butcher friends may decide they should ask us for pork to justify the profit which they feel should be theirs under the new conditions, should such conditions develop.

Care of Eyes Aids Sleep.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Some months ago I gave you an article about the eyes. In this you were advised to sleep in a dark room. At the time, the warning was given that the windows should be open in order that here might be an abundance of ventilation.

One of my readers wrote me an interesting letter. In this he said: "I have for years kept a black handkerchief under my pillow, and as soon as the light wakes me I fold the handkerchief over my eyes and thus have darkness without interfering with the fresh air."

This is a splendid idea. My correspondent says he has no patent on it and will be glad if others make use of the suggestion. It is so good that I want to pass it on to you.

A friend of mine to whom I just read this paragraph tells about another man who recommends the use of a black silk handkerchief for the same purpose. Great minds run in the same direction, but, anyhow, let us give publicity to the idea, so that many persons may benefit by it.

If you will close your eyes and look about you, you can locate every window in the room through the closed eyelids. So long as any light filters through, the retina is active and the brain is receiving visual impressions. This means there is not complete rest. The subconscious mind is sure to react when retinal impressions are telegraphed to it. Consequently, perfect rest is impossible.

It is particularly sensitive persons who are annoyed by light. They are the very ones who should have undisturbed rest. Unfortunately they are the type of persons inclined to have a night lamp. This is all wrong. They should sleep in absolute darkness.

There are two things to be thought of in arranging the location of the bed in the sleeping room. It should be placed where it will receive the greatest possible quantity of fresh air. It must be so placed, too, as to protect the eyes from the light. In the city, particularly, where street lights are common, the sleeping room should be selected with a view to protection from outside illumination.

In the absence of a satisfactory arrangement of the bedroom to give protection from the light, the use of a black silk handkerchief, as suggested, is a simple and satisfactory device for cutting out the light. I commend it to your consideration.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A. R. Q—What would you advise for ringing in the ears?

2—I am nervous, what do you suggest for nervousness?

A—Since the trouble is usually due to a catarrhal condition the nasal passage should receive careful attention first of all. For further particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—Build up the health in general and the nervous system will also benefit. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

• • •

A. O. C. What do you advise for bronchial trouble?

A—Constipation is a factor in this disease and should be corrected. Avoid overeating and quite as important as all the rest, have plenty of sleep every night. Exercise and exposure to the sunlight is most important. Deep breathing is also beneficial.

• • •

L. J. Q—What should a woman weigh who is twenty-one years of age and five feet five inches tall?

2—How can I reduce?

A—For her age and height she should weigh about 134 pounds.

2—Weight reduction is chiefly a matter of self-control as regards the diet. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1927.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

More Overproduction.

The discovery of three of Button Gwinnett's signatures in England may, it is feared, break the prices, last quoted at $51,000 apiece. Overproduction threatens another fine industry.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

No Question of That.

A Chicago judge has granted a divorce decree to a woman because her husband "was addicted to the use of a saxophone." That makes it out a cruelty charge, apparently.—Detroit Free Press.

All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before Thee, O Lord: and shall glorify Thy name. For Thou art great, and doest wondrous things: Thou art God alone. — Psalm 86:9, 10.

Prayer—Our Father, in heaven, may Thy kingdom come.

Editorial Comment.

LAND OF TOPSY TURVY.

"Land of Topsy Turvy" is what the Washington correspondent of the Kansas City Star calls Russia after a tour of that country. Everything, he says, is different there from what it is in the United States.

"I have stood in school-rooms," he writes, "and heard children taught that there is no God and that religion is only an instrument to chain the masses to the exploiters.

"I have seen some of the many who have been deliberately crushed and ruined, reduced not just to poverty, but made social and political outcasts, with positions far less enviable than that of the man or women who swept the street in front of my hotel—not for anything they had done, but because they had committed the crime of having property when Russia went mad.

"I have seen in operation the most efficient political machine in the world—the Communist party—which with fewer than 700,000 members, is able to force it will on 145,000,000 people. And an inside clique of a handful really dictates to that 700,000.

"I have seen men and women get divorces by walking across the street to a government office and signing a paper saying that they wanted one—with no more trouble than buying a postage stamp.

"I have been in apartment houses where one tenant paid twenty cents a month for his room and where the family in the adjoining room paid many dollars monthly—the idea being that you paid rent on the basis of what you earn. And I have never seen such wretched living conditions anywhere in Europe.

"I have seen men who a few years ago would be classed in America as soap box orators, whose past experience consisted largely of being sent to and escaping from czarist prison camps, running or trying to run government corporations doing hundreds of millions of business annually."

And so on. He winds up by saying that he has seen the dread "O. G. P. U.," or the secret police of soviet, ruthless and relentless, operating to keep the people in terror, and nowhere in Russia did he find liberty.

Such conditions would be impossible, he concludes, anywhere but in a land where the great mass of the people had suddenly escaped from brutal oppression, and were smashing everything and everybody down to a common level. "It's the bottom on top, the old top destroyed and wiped out, the middle class unmercifully thrust down into the masses. It all seemed unreal, a sort of Alice in Wonderland, with reverse English on the sort of wonders Alice saw."

In time it will be different. For the chief weakness of the Bolshevik system is that it is attempting to disregard the greatest force of all—human nature. The Bolsheviks spent five years in smashing everything down and ruining Russia. Now, after five years more they are pulling apart again. The swing is toward the sort of government other countries have—not because the soviets want it, but because the Russians are, after all, human beings like us all.—Youngstown Vindicator.

Facts Worth Knowing.

The facial angle system of measuring the forehead was discovered by Peter Camper, about 1780.

Marshal Ney was named "Red Lion" by his soldiers on account of his color and his personal bravery.

One of the earliest automobile fortunes was made by the man who invented the first motor horn.

The three empresses of France—Josephine, Marie Louise and Eugenie—lost each their respective imperiality.

Embattled architecture was never favored by the Spaniards, hence the proverbial scarcity of "A Castle in Spain."

The Atlantic ocean has now been crossed ten times in all by dirigible and non-stop and interrupted aeroplane flights.

Whalebone, once used so much in the making of corsets, is now mainly employed as bristles in hair and other brushes.

The Order of St. Patrick, which King George has bestowed upon the Prince of Wales, is the youngest of the great British national decorations. It was instituted in 1783 by George III. to make a further link of sovereignty with Ireland.

Vagrant Verse.

FOR US WHO STAY AT HOME.

If gray-green olive trees upon the hills
Of Italy held all of beauty's store;
If fronded palms along a tropic shore
Were all of loveliness; if daffodils
By English streams held nature's only thrills;
If eidelweiss on Alpine slopes meant more
Than other flowers, we could not but deplore
The fate that shackles us against our wills.

But there are lovely springtime apple-trees
For us who stay at home, and sycamores
Beside the streams, and gallant pines that dare
The winter's chill, elms swaying in the breeze,
And hollyhocks and pansies by our doors.
I thank Thee, God, for beauty everywhere!
—B. Y. Williams.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

News dispatches tell of a millionaire who commits suicide because of ill health. It is better to be well than wealthy. Riches can feed and clothe. They can not cure. What is an income if you have no days to spend it in? An income of unspent days ahead, a job, and moderation in all things—that's the best kind of an income.

• • •

How can folks pity themselves when they have daily so many reminders of tribulations that are worse? No one with something to do, and health and opportunity to do it, ought ever to pity himself.

Here and there we find a man or woman who says he has worked out a philosophy of life. He may think about it, talk about it, write about it. The question is, does he try it on himself and does it work? Your so-called philosophy of life is no good if it won't hold water when it rains.

There is a great deal of newthoughtism and pollyannaism in the world which is little more than a bookish attempt to hide the facts of life or to hide from the facts of life. On the other hand, if we are to better our estate, in whatever way, it is vital to think as large as we can. Tennyson speaks of "mighty hopes that make us men."

We must have mighty hopes if we are to make even a little improvement. With a little improvement, we have made preparations for great improvement.

Travelers may or may not like the way we do things in America. Returned natives may tell us Europe has better government, is more refined, more artistic, older, more dignified. Some of the criticism is true, and some not. Probably the rank and file of folks are interested to know that while one person in forty-three in Great Britain has an automobile, one person in every five in the United States has an auto.

There are nearly 23,000,000 machines operating throughout the world—and ninety-five per cent. of them are in America or come from America.

Well, that may or may not be civilization, but it means a lot of comfort and a lot of fun. —Copyright, 1927.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Tuesday.

The Republican state central committee met in Columbus and endorsed Taft for the presidency.

Marion county had $310,000 in five local banks drawing interest at two per cent.

Tents were being pitched at the fairground for the state camp-meeting of the Seventh Day Adventists to open August 9.

Youngstown scored one run and shut out Marion with Wilmot pitching.

Miss Maud Lindsay and Mr. C. S. Crisinger, both of Marion, were married by Rev. L. C. Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Rauhauser left for a ten-day vacation on the Great lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kling and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Harding left for New York to sail the following Thursday for a six-weeks stay in Europe.

A marriage license was issued to William Kunkle and Rose L. McElhaney.

Louis E. Myers and Martin J. Burke were elected as deputy election supervisors.

The Stark company was distributing its directory showing that Marion had a population of about 19,560 by actual count. A few weeks before the Polk people estimated in their directory that the city's population was 24,012 including outlying additions.

Dinner Stories.

Here's a new poker story, or rather, an old one with a new ending. At the conclusion of a merry game the other night, L. P. owed us eighty cents.

"I'll have to owe it to you," he said with a smile. "All I have with me is a twenty-dollar bill."

"I can change a twenty-dollar bill," we sang happily.

"I don't want it changed," said L. P., in an outraged tone, vanishing from the place like Hamlet's father's ghost.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, July 30—Those who think only youth must be served should visit the croquet grounds in the Central park meadows. On the greensward daily old age is having a fling. Of course, a few young folk are knocking balls through the wickets, but the majority are venerable gray heads.

The old croquet players are as enthusiastic as golfers. They are frequently seen swinging their mallets with one hand while holding an umbrella with the other to ward off the rain. And after dark white handkerchiefs are often tied around wickets to continue a set.

Many figures of the croquet grounds appear to have come to life out of musty pages of the dead past. There are those with tiny shoulder capes, flat-topped derbies, slip-on barrel cuffs and various other Victorian fancies.

They have their championship matches with fervid rooters on the sideline cheering them to victory. So heavy is the interest that police are often required to keep the crowds from overrunning the fields. Medals are presented to winners amid great applause.

It is heartening to see men who have reached that age when most of us seek the slippers and chimney corner getting up almost at daybreak to set off for the croquet grounds with their basket lunch and await their turn to play.

Up in Van Cortland park there is the feverish interest daily in English cricket. There are several cricket fields and eleven teams waiting to test their skill. The cricket players are chiefly West Indian negroes who seem to man most of the uptown apartment house elevators.

Soccer is another game achieving popularity. So much so that there are several shops uptown dealing solely in soccer supplies. And in certain sections of Staten and Long Island, pitching horseshoes is as much a pastime as dice games along Broadway.

• • •

New York has turned to horse-back riding with greater interest this summer than ever before. The Central park bridle path is filled all day whereas a few years ago there was talk of abandoning it because of lack of interest. Riding instructors have a distinct personality—a sort of regal manner. They sport jaunty mustaches, a few even wear monocles on duty and it is said any number are impoverished barons and such.

• • •

Some one suggests that in riding academies the term "the trade is falling off" means nothing.

• • •

The other night I sat at a table removed from Harry K. Thaw in a public dining-room. He is today quite a change from the gay young millionaire who flashed out of Pittsburgh to dazzle Broadway. He has a shock of iron gray hair and his figure is portly. His complexion is an oyster white and while the evening was not especially warm, he seemed to be continually mopping his forehead. His "starey" eyes remain the most distinguishing feature. He dined with a fellow who was perhaps one of his several bodyguards. Both were in dinner coats, ate hurriedly without conversation, and rushed away, presumably for the theater. Thaw has lately become a movie director in a company he financed which specializes in comedies.

• • •

In the theatrical district a hatless, gray-haired organ-grinder has for years been grinding out his wheezy tunes along curbs. I asked him the other day when he expected to retire. He looked at me curiously and replied: "What is that your business?" And thinking it over it strikes me as none whatever.

• • •

Reflection inspires a thought that it might have been a better idea for him to have replied by grinding out the current tune of the London halls: "Every Fool Asks Questions."—Copyright, 1927.

Views of Those in Public Eye.

GEORGE HIGGINS MOSES.

George Higgins Moses was born at Lubec, Maine, February 9, 1869. He entered public life as private secretary to the governor of New Hampshire in 1889, holding several state and civic offices at Concord, New Hampshire, until 1909, when he became United States minister to Greece and Montenegro. Moses was elected United States senator from New Hampshire in 1918 to fill an unexpired term. He was re-elected in 1921 and again in the fall of 1926.

Senator Moses holds that a strong effort will be made at the coming session of congress to secure a reduction of the corporation tax. This is the way he puts it:

"A wise program of tax reduction does not mean a lopping off of the whole tax burden to the extent of the entire $600,000,000 surplus which has been accumulated in the treasury, but it does mean a reduction of the taxes amounting to perhaps fifty or sixty per cent of that sum.

"There is going to be a much stronger organized effort at the coming session of congress to reduce the corporation tax than any other tax on the books. The United States chamber of commerce and the National Association of Lumber Manufacturers have been exceedingly diligent during the last year on this subject in preparing to move for this tax reduction. They were barely dissuaded at the last session of congress. They will probably come in full and probably irresistible force for the coming session of the seventieth congress.

"Therefore, I believe that you can set down that item of tax reduction as a certainty. They are going to move to reduce the corporation tax possibly as low as ten per cent—whatever the reduction, it will be substantial. The other items of the tax reduction may be safely left on the knees of the gods and in the capable hands of Senator Reed Smoot, the chairman of the senate committee on finance."

COUNTY DENIED NEW TRIAL IN TAX SUIT

C. W. Bender Not Liable for Taxes on Automobile, Municipal Judge Rules

Basing his ruling on the grounds that no evidence has been introduced which would justify him in granting a new trial Judge William R Martin, in municipal court yesterday afternoon overruled a motion filed by attorneys for the county asking for a rehearing in the case of County Treasurer James E Messenger against C W Bender for the collection of delinquent personal taxes

Bender was given judgment in an action brought by the county treasurer to collect $16 70 in delinquent taxes on an automobile on the grounds that he was not a resident of the state at the time the tax was levied Attorneys yesterday that Bender had of his own free will filed a return listing the car for the county declared at the hearing for taxation

The court held however that since his home was in Michigan at the time and since he had paid a tax on the machine in that state when he secured his license, he should be exempt from paying tax on the machine in this state.

MONDAY S SESSION MAY BE BITTER

Geneva, July 30—While chief delegates were today drafting their speeches for the plenary session of the tri partite naval disarmament conference on Monday which may be the last session—the spokesmen of the various delegations were busily engaged in shifting the blame for the failure of the conference

The British spokesman was out early with an announcement placing the blame on the United States

"Responsibility for the fate of the conference now rests on American shoulders and we can t be blamed," said the British spokesman

"The American spokesman was as confident that the blame did not rest with the United States but with Great Britain

Session May Be Bitter

The American delegation has not received textual instructions but it has been advised that the British proposals submitted on Thursday are not acceptable namely the limitation of total tonnage without limitation by category

Monday s session may be the bitterest one of the conference for there is a very evident desire on the part of all concerned to inform the world that it is ready to disarm but others are not

Japan stands in a peculiar position in the deadlock for while Great Britain and the United States have been striving for an agreement which they have been unable to reach Japan has stood on the sidelines and watched and as yet no one has been able to unload any of the blame for the failure of the conference on Japanese shoulders

There is only a slight possibility that the plenary session set for Monday may be postponed The British asked for this session and the American delegates have no intention of asking for a postponement and are not disposed to agree to one if it is sought

Probable Results

The probable results of Monday's session will be as follows

1—Each delegation will state its position, showing the impossibility of agreement

2—Each delegation will make a sugar-coated statement declaring that the long negotiations have shown that the time is not ripe for the limitation of auxiliary vessels

3—Certain technical definitions of armament and tonnage of individual destroyers and submarines which the experts have worked out may be adopted

American delegates are said to be opposed to even the adoption of the definitions since they agreed to accept these definitions only if the conference succeeded fully.

DAILY TESTED RECIPE

MOCK CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Pork chops, rice tomatoes onion celery green pepper salt and pepper hot water. Select large lean pork chops three-fourths inches thick. Brown in skillet and remove to casserole. On each chop place one tablespoon uncooked rice one slice of onion half a tomato (fresh or canned) and a ring of green pepper. For each chop used now add one third cup chopped celery one half teaspoon salt a dash of pepper and half a cup of water. Bake three hours in a moderate oven, adding a little more water if absorbed too quickly. When using canned tomatoes the liquor may be strained and used instead of water. The celery cooked with the pork gives the latter a savor of chicken and the rice as it thickens becomes deliciously flavored.

Modern Youth
Echoes of the Past
Always a Thriller

BY EDNA S DUTTON

IF you have any qualms that the future generation isn't going to get along so well, cease your worries right here and devote this time to trying to catch up with them. And the way they finesse the game makes some of us look like pikers. They have oodles of composure confidence and persuasiveness and they know just when to play up in any of them. I took part in an interesting dialogue recently where all three of these assets were brought into prominence and just at the right time when I entertained a couple of girls of about 10 summers for a few minutes when they came to report a party the really very first to be given for one of their friends. The spokesman of the pair gave me all the details with the manner of one being bored to tears and at the conclusion of her interview her until now silent companion chimed in oh so very sweetly with "and you wanted to have it charged didn't you?" Needless to say had I been in any other than the news department where the only time any money changes hands is when we hit a co-worker for a loan to tide us over till payday the story would have been "charged."

To one with imagination it could easily have been a couple of the four horsemen going home from an all night wassail bout or a modern Paul Revere heading for a broadcasting station. But it was neither. It was only a few enterprising souls out for a horseback ride and they really were enjoying it. However, it woke up a few of us who are generally half way up town before we are really awake although they weren't half as noisy as the dozens of automobiles every morning.

"I haven't any sex appeal," Vera acknowledged bitterly

Begin Here Today

FLORA CARTWRIGHT chides her niece, VERA CAMERON, for her old maidish ways, out-of date hairdress and business-like manner. That same day Vera is promoted to assistant to JERRY MACKLYN, new advertising manager of Peach Bloom Cosmetics. Jerry instantly proposes as an advertising scheme to transform Vera with the aid of Peach Bloom cosmetics into a beauty and to photograph her in each stage of the transformation. Vera indignantly refuses and resolves to resign.

She reconsiders, however, when she falls suddenly in love with a man whom she hears called SCHUYLER. She hears him tell a companion he is going to Lake Minnetonka in June.

KITTY PROCTOR, a professional demonstrator whom Jerry calls in, agrees to make Vera over. Vera's emerald eyes cause Jerry to remember an uncaptioned Sunday supplement picture he has in his desk and he asks Kitty to use the picture as a model.

At the end of three weeks Vera and Jerry go to Flora's apartment. Vera tells them she is going to Minnetonka in June. Just before they retire Flora agrees to teach Vera what she knows about charm and appeal if Vera will keep "hands off" of Jerry, whom Flora likes. Vera agrees, though unaccountably is not enthusiastic about her aunt's infatuation for Jerry.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER IX

"THIS is more than I had bargained for," Jerry Macklyn grinned at Vera Cameron and her aunt Flora Cartwright, seated side by side on the living room couch. "I've finished my job. I said I'd turn you into a beauty, Miss Cameron, if the Peach Bloom cosmetics were any good, and I've done it. I don't know where you got the idea that I could give you any pointers on how to be fatal to men, as Mrs. Cartwright puts it."

"Nonsense, Jerry Macklyn," Flora cut in gaily.

"In the first place," Jerry began seriously, "every man likes a pretty girl, the prettier the better. You're more than pretty now, Vee Vee, you're beautiful. But just beauty alone won't get you very far. You've got to have charm and—er—sex appeal if you want to have men fluttering around you."

"I—I haven't any sex appeal," Vera acknowledged bitterly.

"How do you know you haven't?" Jerry challenged her. "You haven't given your poor little S. A. a chance. You went around looking like an old maid school teacher with 'Keep off the grass' signs plastered all over you."

"I have certainly tried to keep my business relationships on an impersonal basis. Any girl who uses the lure of sex to advance herself in an office is beneath contempt," Vera retorted angrily.

Flora Cartwright clapped her small hands and laughed deliciously.

"Hear, hear!" Jerry cheered. "Wait! Don't fly off the handle. You wanted to know what kind of a girl a man falls in love with. I'll tell you—the kind of a girl who never in the world would pull a line like that."

"Oh, I know what you're going to say," Vera mourned. "You're going to pull the ancient wheeze that men don't like girls who have brains. 'Beautiful and dumb!'"

"That's just where you're wrong," Jerry contradicted her triumphantly. "It's no credit to a man if a dumb Dora falls for him. He has an uneasy suspicion that she hasn't sense enough to know what a prize she's drawn. What a man likes is a girl with beauty, charm and brains enough to conceal the fact that she has more brains than he has. Your one big trouble, Vee Vee, is going to be that you are so darned [illegible] You make every man you work with feel like an ignoramus who ought to be fired so that you could have his job."

"Did I make you feel that way?" Vera demanded [illegible]

"Did you!" Jerry [illegible] "Why, it's [illegible] all I could do [illegible] from [illegible] and say [illegible] I'm through [illegible] down [illegible] to somebody [illegible] Make Miss Cameron advertising manager. She knows more about advertising in a minute than I do in a year.'"

"Why don't you?"

"Because, doggone you!" Jerry shouted at her, "when I get as far as [illegible] office I run into little Rosemary Fitch, who flutters those china blue eyes of hers and looks up at me as if she thinks I'm Apollo, Lothario and Valentino all rolled into one. My [illegible] swells so that my vest buttons pop off and I go back to my desk all primed up to show the world what a great guy I am."

"What a pity you haven't Rosemary Fitch as a secretary," Vera snapped.

"Yes, isn't it?" Jerry agreed, grinning broadly. "But the old man beat me to her, and of course you are useful to have around. Now, listen, there's one thing that you don't know but that you've got to learn, and then you can forget everything else. I'll bet you can tell her what that is, Mrs. Cartwright." Jerry turned to Flora, who was looking a little forlorn at being so persistently ignored.

"Call me Flora, Jerry," she brightened instantly. "Of course I can. It is the beauty creed: 'I believe that I am utterly beautiful and utterly desirable. I believe that no man can look upon me without pleasure and without desire.'"

"Perfect!" Jerry applauded.

"You forget to say that I'd be a conceited little wretch that every woman would want to murder," Vee-Vee snapped.

"You get me all wrong," Jerry protested. "I don't want you to be self conscious and conceited in the usual meaning of those words. But I do want you to radiate beauty, to make every person you come in contact with realize your beauty because you wear it like a royal cloak. And here's one other thing for you to tell yourself and believe with all your heart: Every person in the world can teach you something, every person has at least a modicum of interest or charm or lovableness for you, and it is up to you to discover it. When you meet a man—a woman either, for that matter, but we happen to be talking of men—look at him with joyous expectancy. Look glad to meet him—"

"Shall I adopt this attitude toward every man I meet?" Vee-Vee dimpled, widening her green eyes at him. "I should think it might cause complications—"

"It does," Flora laughed and sighed. "Remember, darling, I have been married four times! But it certainly does make life interesting."

"I only want to be married once, and I want to stay married to him for ever," Vee Vee said softly.

Jerry's bright blue eyes contracted a little as if with pain, and the ruddy color in his cheeks paled noticeably. "Well, that's certainly definite enough, my dear pupil," he grinned ruefully. "What sort of a man is he?"

"Well," Vee Vee flushed, "let us say he is extremely handsome, young and rich, socially prominent, of an old family." She was thinking of his name, Schuyler.

"If he's all that," Jerry frowned while Flora's blue eyes watched him narrowly, "he's used to having girls and women hurl themselves at his head. It will take very special tactics to land a big fish like that. Your cue is to act indifferent, to concentrate on every other desirable man in the hotel so that you can speedily show him that competition for the favor of Vee Vee Cameron is of the keenest, that it will be no snap job for him to horn in on even a scrap of your much sought after time. Listen, Vee Vee, we can't get very far with these lessons in charm just sitting and talking things over. I've got a better scheme than that. I have got three more weeks to get ready for the campaign, haven't I? You'll need practice. Suppose you take me on as a substitute sweetheart for three weeks—"

"Jerry! Don't be an idiot!" Flora cried sharply, with a warning flash of her blue eyes at Vera. "That's dangerous business, and you know it."

"Of course I do," Jerry Macklyn admitted grimly. "Maybe I want it to be dangerous—for Vee Vee. At any rate, here's my proposition—take it or leave it! I'll beau you around for three weeks. We'll [illegible] get [illegible] the [illegible] dance [illegible] a [illegible] of tennis and [illegible] the time I'll watch you [illegible] the ways of a woman with a man."

"Where [illegible] Flora [illegible] I suppose [illegible] I was [illegible] be a [illegible] of the charm school [illegible]"

"Why not make it a foursome [illegible] half the time? You and young Peter, Vee Vee and I. The [illegible] example as well as [illegible] and I know of no more [illegible] of the charm school [illegible] weight."

"Does [illegible] always have to be—Peter and me, you and Vee Vee?" Flora gave him a slow, tantalizing smile.

"Oh, well, switch partners now and then, so Vee Vee can practice on young Peter," Jerry assured her. "What do you say, Vee Vee?"

Before the girl could answer, the doorbell shrilled. Flora flew to answer [illegible] a gay [illegible] over her shoulder: "I told Pete to stay away, but I knew he couldn't. I don't know what I'm going to do with the poor infatuated infant."

But it was not Peter. It was the uniformed elevator boy, delivering an immense box of flowers.

"Peter is so extravagant," Flora murmured, a pleased smile playing over her face. Then suddenly her smile was wiped out, her blue eyes turned to ice. "It's for you, Vera. From Peter, I suppose. I think, Jerry," she turned to the embarrassed young man, "that your time could be spent to better advantage in teaching a passe middle-aged woman how to hold her suitors. Vee Vee doesn't seem to be in any urgent need of instruction."

Flora flashed an April smile at Jerry over Vee Vee's shoulder. "I've been so bored with poor dear Peter. I'm glad he's at last taken no for an answer. You don't know, Jerry, what a relief it will be to [illegible] with a [illegible] a real man of the world. Well, [illegible] great [illegible] Jerry."

Jerry Macklyn [illegible] the red hair with a distracted hand, looked as if he were about to run for his life, then a pair of small eyes flashed [illegible] challenging glance at him and [illegible] I'm glad," and he muttered weakly. "Great fun. Good Lord! What have I let myself in for?"

Jerry Macklyn makes an unusual request of Vee Vee in the next chapter just as she is about to start for Minnetonka.

Amelita Galli-Curci has been engaged to sing at the formal dedication of the new auditorium at the University of Kansas.

Chautauqua Patrons Hear Two Talented Artists in Elsie Baker Co. Concert

Noted Contralto and Accompanist Delight Audience with Program Last Night, Rev A F Ewart Lectures in Afternoon

Music lovers of Marion last night had an opportunity [illegible] American [illegible] artists, Elsie Baker [illegible] and [illegible] pianist of rare talent [illegible] McMoon [illegible] accompanist and [illegible] Miss Baker [illegible] Hall [illegible] park [illegible] present [illegible] well filled.

From her opening number, Aria—[illegible] by Tschaikowsky, Miss Baker held her audience [illegible] attention. Her program, a varied and pleasing combination of delightful numbers, was carefully chosen [illegible] character as to display to good advantage her remarkable voice.

Not a few enjoyed the beautiful piano numbers by Mr McMoon, whose first [illegible] Rondo Capriccioso by Mendelssohn [illegible] an encore with The Ruins of Athens, a Turkish march by Beethoven.

French and German Numbers

Miss Baker's second group, several of which were sung in German and French, all of a soft melodious quality, were Zueignung, Strauss; Maria Wiegenlied, Reger; Alleluja, Mozart, and Chanson Norvegienne, [illegible]. She sang as an encore a delightful number, "Long, Long Ago."

Three varied and enjoyable numbers were included in Mr McMoon's second group of solos: Prelude in C Minor, Rachmaninoff; Dolores, a waltz serenade composed by Mr McMoon, and the "Spanish Caprice," Moszkowski. He played as an encore The Music Box, following the melody of a music box.

Especially delightful were the numbers of Miss Baker's third group: "When You're Away," Rossmunde; "The Nightingale Has a Lyre of Gold," Whelpley; "The Little Shepherd's Song" and "Awake Beloved," by Clara Edwards. She sang two encores, the beautiful number "By the Waters of Minnetonka," and a special selection for children, "The Cuckoo Clock."

Solos Well Received

Mr McMoon's concluding solo numbers, Hungarian Rhapsody No 6 and "Valse Humoresque," Stojowski, were unusually well received.

In conclusion Miss Baker was heard in a charming group of three selections, all of which she has made into Victor records: "Sleepy Hollow Tune," Kountz, doubtless one of the most delightful numbers she sang during the evening; "Come to the Fair," Easthope Martin, and "Spring Song of the Robin Woman," Cadman. She responded to an encore by beautifully singing "Silent Night."

One of the most interesting and informative lectures of the Chautauqua program for the season was the powerful address on the subject "The Challenge of the New Day," given by Rev Arthur Frederick Ewart, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of Chicago, before a well filled auditorium yesterday afternoon. The crowd numbered close to 500, proving somewhat larger than the opening afternoon.

Gives "Chalk Talk"

A pleasure prelude to the address was the chalk talk, "High Lights and Shadows," given by a truly capable young artist, John E Bockewitz, dramatic cartoonist, artist and absorbing speaker as well. His pictures, drawn with ease and rapidity while the artist entertained his audience with anecdotes, humorous stories, recitations and discussions of his art, were exceptionally well done and well received by an appreciative audience. [illegible] held [illegible] Mr B [illegible] subjects ranged from [illegible] Kipling's works, as On the Road to Mandalay, to subjects of a [illegible] nature as a beautiful picture [illegible] Rock of Ages.

The challenge of the new day is [illegible] challenge [illegible] spiritual [illegible] Reverend Ewart [illegible] of his address. "We are in the golden age of the world's discoveries, inventions and improvements and now the challenge is to develop the heart and soul of it all, namely ourselves, that which is within us," he continued. "For the last 30 or 40 years the world has been revolutionized but man has remained the same. The world has been remade but man is unmade."

Purpose of Life

A. S. M. Hutchinson's book, "One Increasing Purpose," in which he says "There's a Christ within us," is one of the greatest books ever written. "To us the increasing purpose of life is to make that potential and divine personality within us masterful and sovereign in life."

Reverend Ewart was greeted by a large number of friends and acquaintances here whom he met during his visit to Marion two years ago when he presided as platform manager. He has served as pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church in Chicago for the last seven years and for several years has been spending his vacations managing and lecturing in Chautauquas. He has an enviable overseas war record and four years ago served as state chaplain of the American Legion of Illinois. Two months ago he received the commission as lieutenant colonel, divisional chaplain in the Thirty-third Division, Illinois National Guard.

10 OPEN SAFETY PINS SWALLOWED BY GIRL

Operation at Columbus Hospital Saves Life of Miss Velma Kohbarger

Velma Kohbarger, 20, of this city, is recovering at Grant Hospital, Columbus, today after an alleged attempt to commit suicide by swallowing 10 open safety pins.

Miss Kohbarger, who was born in this city Aug 2, 1907, has been undergoing treatment at Columbus hospitals for some time and it is believed that the despondency over her condition resulted in the attempt to end her life.

No reason why Miss Kohbarger swallowed the pins but the fact was revealed by an X-ray, according to Dr W. H. [illegible], superintendent of the Columbus State Hospital. Her life was saved by an operation performed by Dr J. F. Baldwin of Columbus.

ANOTHER MARION CITIZEN FREE OF NEURITIS PAINS

Says Konjola Also Cleared Up Miserable Case of Stomach and Kidney Trouble

"In the worst forms of neuritis the pains are piercing—just like hot daggers cutting into the nerves," said the Konjola Man, yesterday, at The Stump Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., Marion,

MR. REASON HEFFLEY

where he is introducing the new medical product, Konjola, to the people of Marion and vicinity.

"Many authorities have stated that the agony of neuritis is likened unto an electrical shock, the terrible pains that grab the sufferer at frequent intervals coming more often each time. Some call the affliction neuralgia, others say it is like rheumatism, but in either event it is a terrible affliction and one of the most agonizing diseases mankind is heir to," continued the Konjola Man.

It is surprising what this new medical preparation, Konjola, will accomplish in so many instances of neuritis suffering. By invigorating the inner organs to healthy action, and stimulating the liver and kidneys, the poisons throughout the system are eliminated, the nerves become stronger and within a brief space of time this Konjola brings amazing relief to the neuritis sufferer. Many people in Marion are strongly indorsing Konjola for the suffering pains of neuritis. Just a few days ago, Mr. Reason Heffley, 231 Superior St., this city, made the following remarkable statement:

"Besides stomach and kidney trouble I was suffering dreadfully with neuritis," said Mr. Heffley. "My arms were affected with awful pains and the muscles in my shoulders and neck seemed to draw up and pull at every nerve across my back. I couldn't sleep at nights and my kidneys were so weak I always had backaches and was out of bed 4 or 5 times a night. My digestion was poor and I suffered misery with my stomach.

"I spent all kinds of money for medical attention and different remedies before I found out about this new Konjola. But now I am free of the awful pains in my arms and shoulders and I sleep perfectly at nights. The kidney trouble and night rising is gone and I eat anything without stomach trouble. I will always indorse Konjola for the great relief this medicine gave me."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump Pharmacy (Stump & Samsel), 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.
